APPENDIX A EMERGENCY PLAN

NB. New Fire regulations were introduced in 2005. They mean that, as the responsible person for hiring the Hall, You have legal duties regarding the safety of people at your event.

On the back of this paper there is a plan of the Hall with the whereabouts of the fire exits and extinguishers. You should make yourself familiar with it. The fire assembly point is the car park at the west end of the Hall. You must be aware that:

1. There is an automatic fire alarm system that sounds a hooter in case of fire. This system is tested every week.
2. You must inform people using the Hall of the whereabouts of the fire exits and fire assembly point.
3. The Hall is licensed for 200 people seated in the main Hall, and 50 in the Olde Hanney Room. These numbers must not be exceeded.
4. You must keep all exits (including fire exits) free from obstruction at all times.
5. You must ensure that the emergency lighting supply illuminating all exit signs and routes is turned on during the whole time you are occupying the Hall. It will operate automatically in the event of any power failure.
6. Apart from a balcony in the main Hall, the Hall is a single-storey building and all fire exits are accessible to wheelchair users.
7. No naked flames (e.g. candles) must be lit without prior permission when booking.
8. Ensure that noise does not become loud enough to prevent people hearing the fire alarm. Any disco equipment must only be plugged into sockets on the stage.
9. There is a no-smoking policy throughout the Hall, including e-cigarettes. You must ensure that this policy is adhered to.
10. Should the fire alarm sound, you should ensure that everyone leaves the building and check that everyone is outside, especially any children or disabled persons, taking immediately only valuables. No-one should go back to collect other property.
11. If you discover any outbreak of fire, however slight, you must
 - a. Phone 999 and ask for the fire service. There is a pay phone in the entrance hall.
 - b. Ensure there is clear access to the Hall for fire engines.
 - c. Where appropriate, use the fire extinguishers. NB You will be charged for any improper use of fire extinguishers, specifically their use when there is no fire.

12. Re-entry must be permitted only when authorised by the Fire Service.
